Wyatt Makes Deferred Gift Of $100,000 Through Insurance

A deferred gift of $100,000 has been designated for Presbyterian College by Alumnus Knox Wyatt of Rome, Ga., through imaginative use of his insurance program.

Wyatt, a graduate of the class of 1931, called upon his experience as an outstanding insurance executive in tailoring his program to provide $100,000 for PC upon the settlement of his estate after death.

He pointed out that this insurance policy — worked into his total estate — planning program — will enable him to make the most effective provisions to help Presbyterian College at some future date while realizing an immediate personal advantage in income tax deductions on annual premiums paid. He added:

"In this era when it is difficult to accumulate resources, a deferred gift of this nature is one means by which a person may do something substantial for an institution such as PC. I believe others would take satisfaction in the opportunity, and I urge them to explore the advantages with their insurance underwriters and tax lawyers."

Knox Wyatt, a chartered life underwriter, serves as Southern Division Manager of the Franklin Life Insurance Company. Twice in the past three years he has been cited as the company's "man of the year" in recognition of record sales volumes achieved by his division.

Wyatt is a loyal alumnus who recently completed a three-year term on the Presbyterian College board of trustees and whose son is now enrolled here. He and other family members provided for the Wyatt Chapel wing of PC's new Auditorium.

Senator Russell To Spark 85th Commencement Exercises

Donald A. Russell, newly named U. S. Senator from South Carolina, will be the highlight speaker of Presbyterian College's 85th commencement exercises on May 30.

He will deliver the commencement address that afternoon to the 100 graduating seniors in Belk Auditorium. It will close a full day of gownned activity which will also feature the morning baccalaureate sermon preached by Dr. Frank H. Caldwell, former president of Louisville Theological Seminary and now executive-director of the Presbyterian Foundation, Inc., in Charlotte.

Four honorary doctoral degrees will be awarded at this time, two of them to PC alumni. Dr. Henry

M. Brimm, librarian and professor of bibliography at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, will receive the doctor of laws; and Dr. Frank R. Johnston, heart surgeon and associate professor at the Bowman-Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem, N. C., the doctor of humanities. Both are alumni.

Another honorary doctor of laws will go to Dr. James S. Patton, executive-secretary of the General Council, Presbyterian Church, US; and the doctor of divinity degree will be awarded to Dr. Fred V. Poag, pastor of the Spartanburg (SC) First Presbyterian Church.

In addition to baccalaureate degrees, the graduating seniors will receive reserve army commissions and various awards. Trustee Chairman Robert M. Vance and President Marc C. Weersing will preside over the occasion.

Bequests of $55,000 Strengthen Program

Bequests totaling $55,000 have come to Presbyterian College in recent months from the legacies of two devoted church people who wanted to perpetuate some of their Christian zeal in the work of PC.

One of these gifts, amounting to $50,000, came from the estate of the late LeRoy M. Brown, a devoted Presbyterian elder and West Union lumberman, who died on Dec. 24, 1963. He designated this contribution to endow scholarship funds "to help educate worthy young men" at PC.

The gift by LeRoy M. Brown represents one of the largest bequests ever made to Presbyterian College. It has been added to a contribution of $1,500 given earlier by Mr. and Mrs. Brown to bring the total Brown scholarship fund to $51,500.

A second bequest of $5,000 was received recently from the estate of F. E. Watkins, prominent Anderson land-owner and planter. This gift also has been designated for an endowed scholarship, with special consideration being given to a Thornwell Orphanage student attending PC.

President Marc C. Weersing has emphasized that increasing support of this nature — through wills of persons who believe in Christian higher education — adds substantially to the strength of Presbyterian College and to the effectiveness of its mission. He said:

"There is a real challenge in the thought of helping to educate some of the young men and women who are destined for leadership tomorrow but who need assistance today. A bequest assures that a person's influence will live after him in the lives of others, creating opportunities for further service in God's Kingdom."

And Corporations Add Support . . .

Gregg-Graniteville Foundation: $5,000

In the area of corporation grants, a $5,000 gift has just been presented to PC by the Gregg-Graniteville Foundation, Inc., of Graniteville, S. C.

These funds were designated for building purposes. They will be used to help underwrite the cost of the three new buildings under construction.

Gulf: $5,000

A $5,000 grant also has just been received from the Gulf Oil Corporation. It will be used to supplement the funds needed to complete the cost of the new science building and its equipment.

Gulf has a broad program of aid to higher education, and Presbyterian has been the recipient of numerous smaller gifts from this source through the years. The present grant, however, comes from that part designed to assist with capital improvements.

Texaco: $1,500

Another $1,500 grant has come to PC from Texaco's 1965 aid-to-education program.

This represents the second $1,500 gift made to PC by Texaco in the past two years. The funds, in each case, have been given for unrestricted use.

PC has claimed the first $50,000 of the anonymous $150,000 challenge grant offered last summer to stimulate fund-raising efforts to underwrite the remaining cost of the three new buildings now under construction.

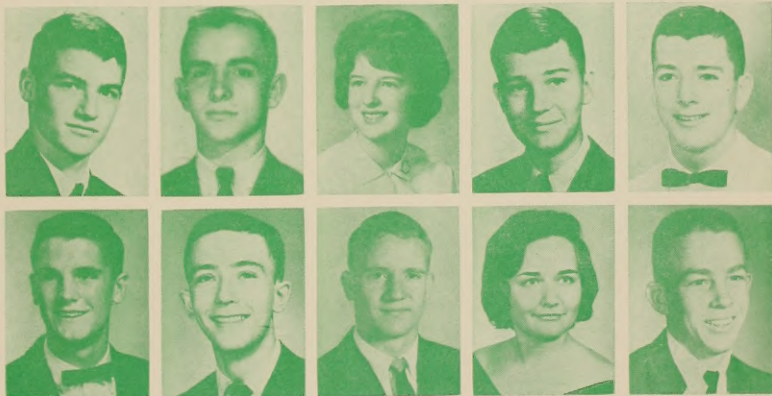

The challenge grant is dependent upon PC's securing $600,000 in additional funds over the three-year period, 1964-67. It is to be paid in $50,000 installments for each $200,000 in cash secured by the College.

Deposited funds totaling $273,727 enabled Presbyterian College to claim the first $50,000. In addition to the cash received to date toward this project, pledged subscriptions amount to $162,834 and are being paid on daily. So the second $50,000 installment is within sight.

Business Manager G. Edward Campbell, reporting on these figures, suggests two ways in which PC friends may help in this effort: 1—the regular payment of pledges by those who have subscribed; and 2—support of the project, by those who have not subscribed, so the remaining $163,439 needed to complete the $600,000 objective may be obtained.

Presbyterian College is now constructing a new science hall, dining hall and women's dormitory at a cost of $1,850,000. The 1962 development campaign to build these structures and to add $700,000 to the endowment produced subscriptions totaling $1,953,100. It was to help complete the total financing of this program that the anonymous foundation made its challenging offer in 1964. Funds of $436,561 subscribed toward this challenge project are in addition to subscriptions made in the 1962 campaign.

Founder's Scholarship Winners

Ten students from three states have been awarded Founder's Scholarships to attend Presbyterian College next fall. The grants, ranging from $1,200 to $5,600 each for four years of study, were made on the basis of scholarship, leadership and character to these students:

Annual Giving Points For Record $85,000 In '65

A record goal of $85,000. A challenge grant of $5,000 to help reach the goal.

These are the major elements of PC's Annual Giving program now underway for 1965. Early efforts already have produced $20,000 in the opening weeks toward achieving the objective.

The challenge comes in the form of an anonymous incentive grant of $5,000 — offered to PC if 40% of the alumni take part in the 1965 program. That would represent a 10% increase over last year's 30.5% participation, which resulted in a new high of $77,518 given in 1964. The challenge grant can be achieved in these three stages:

- 1—$1,000 when participation hits 30%.
- 2—$2,000 when the index moves to 35%.
- 3—$2,000 when the 40% goal is reached.

Since 1,300 alumni contributors are needed to make 40%, this means that each contributor — no matter what the size of his gift — will claim $3.85 for Presbyterian College.

In seeking $85,000 this year, the main objectives are: $55,000 for the academic program, including scholarships and faculty salary increases; and $30,000 for the Walter Johnson Club, alumni athletic organization.

Synod Women, Young People Fill PC's June Calendar

A full June calendar will find Presbyterian College playing host to three church groups of women and young people, with hundreds of Presbyterians visiting the campus then.

Young people will open the religious slate when boys and girls of the South Carolina Synod assemble on June 7-12 for the Leadership Training School held each year at PC.

The next week, June 14-19, the women will stage their 18th annual Synodical Training School. Some 500 are expected to attend this accredited school for instruction by a faculty of outstanding religious leaders.

Then, young people will return to the campus for the week-long conference of Congaree Presbyterian seniors. It's scheduled for June 21-26.

Before the church schedule starts, however, the South Carolina State Chamber of Commerce will begin summer activity here with its annual Industrial Relations Workshop on June 3-4.

All of these groups will make use of the resident, dining, classroom and recreational facilities of the College during their stay on campus.
